FOOD BANKS

It is not a requirement to register with the Department of Human Services (formerly FIA) to receive food assistance. If you do not already receive food stamps, however, it may be a good idea to ask DHS if you qualify.

Many local agencies work in conjunction with their city/county food bank to provide food to residents. The amount of food given is usually enough to last a week.

- Required documents: You must show pictured ID or social security card to receive food.
- Frequency: Assistance is normally allowed once every 30 days from the date of your last visit. Check with provider on the number of times you can access food assistance.
